Dear Students and Parents,

I am excited to introduce myself as your high school English teacher. After having taught at the elementary, middle, and university level, in both the United States and the Dominican Republic, I am thrilled to bring my experience to the high school arena.

As an IB diploma recipient, I know how important it is to build a space of trust in which students can become more than prepared for the university. I want to impart in my students a life-long passion for learning. Through stressing individuality, creativity, and excellence in the classroom, I hope the students will challenge themselves to develop undiscovered passions as well as to grow, personally and academically, in new and exciting directions. I include myself in this process, as I continue learning and growing everyday as a teacher through the interchange with students and parents.

I will bring an open mind, an enthusiastic attitude, and high expectations to the classroom each day. I believe I owe it my students to bring consistency, commitment, and warmth to my job, with the hope that it will inspire such traits in them. I want to inspire my students to soar, both as students and as human beings, each and every day.

As we reap the benefits of our classroom and personal discoveries, this year will also be one of preparation. As writers, I intend to prepare my students for university-level submissions. It will be my pleasure to meet each of you, and I look forward to what this year will bring.

Cheers,

Ms. Adkisson
