Dear Students and Parents,

It is my pleasure to introduce myself as your high school IB Business and Management and Commercial Education teacher. After having taught a combination of 20 years, both in high school and well known Dominican colleges, and worked in different types of business organizations, I am excited to begin a very nourishing and forthcoming school year.

My passion for both managing businesses and teaching has been very fulfilling. I feel it is essential to teach and guide our students in the direction of becoming tomorrow's leaders with a high sense of compassion and social corporate responsibility.

High school students are very unique; they are at that stage in life where a lot of challenges and important decisions are to be made. Good stewardship and guidance is essential at this very important time in their lives. A lot is expected from each student, mainly because of the demands and challenges of an ever changing world. We have a great task to accomplish together – students, teachers, and parents – and it is one that will last a lifetime. As a team, prepare today, tomorrow's leaders.

My hope for the students this year is that you learn through critical thinking, researching and discovering through competitiveness all that you can; therefore, possessing the necessary tools that will help you in your future endeavors.

As a Team, parents, educators and students, together will strive to enrich our knowledge and be better prepared for an ever changing global economy. This is an exciting time for education. I am confident that we will have a very exciting and enriching school year.

Sincerely,

Mr. Rafael Mejia
